CURRENT RESEARCH PROJECTS

- ◆ I am currently finishing up my second book project: 'Pink' weaves a transnational history of femininity, sexuality and whiteness through and around the color pink and historicizes pink as a signifier of both girl* and LGBTQI consumer culture from 1880s to the present. It is interested in color as a global 'soft power' (Yano) shaping gendered selves through feeling, seeing, and consuming pink (www.pinkstudies.com). Funded by Swiss National Science Foundation and Univ. of Basel, 2011- 2016.
- ◆ Another project titled 'Bedroom Cultures' interrogates continuities and changes of intimate places and practices. My aim is to get a better understanding of the paradoxical coexistence of on the one hand a persistence of stark inequalities in consensual sexual practices between heterosexual men and women, and the pluralization of sexual identities and practices on the other.
